The Grand Jury charges:

1 INTRODUCTORY ALLEGATIONS
2

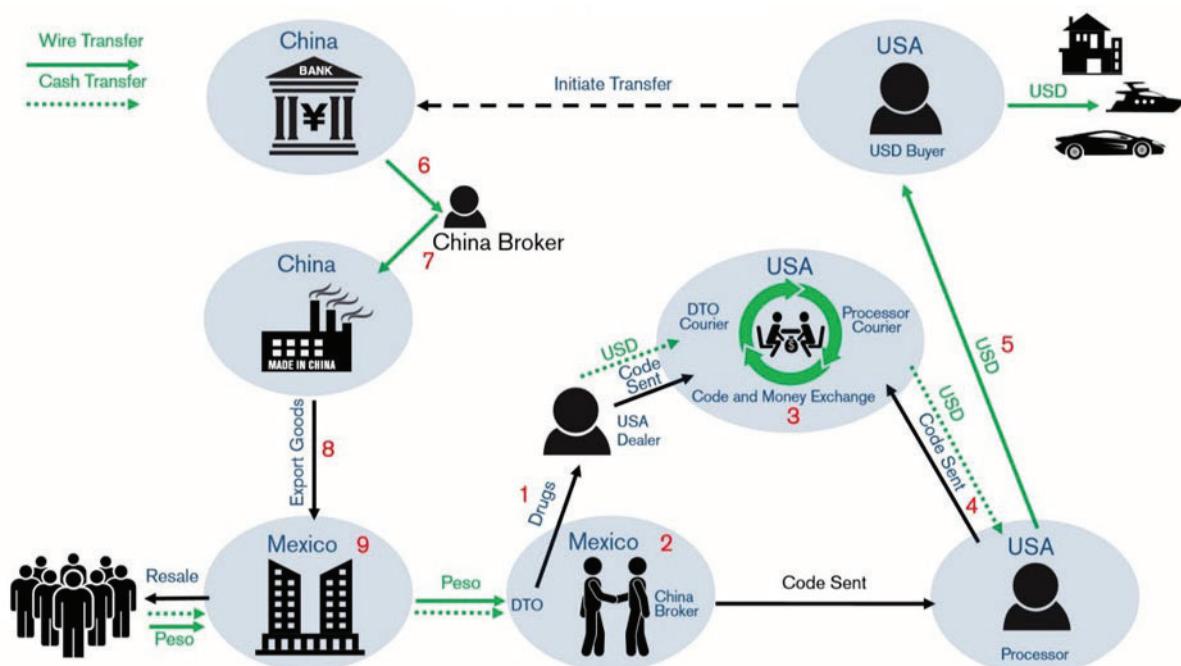

2 At times relevant to this Indictment:

3 A. TRADE IN GOODS FROM CHINA WAS USED TO CIRCUMVENT THE 4 RESTRICTIONS ON TAKING FUNDS OUT OF CHINA5 1. The People's Republic of China ("PRC") maintained its 6 economic strength in part by imposing a closed system of investment 7 on its citizens. That is, individuals who live, work, or invest in 8 the PRC were restricted from transferring more than the equivalent of 9 $50,000 per year out of China. Consequently, many individuals with 10 holdings in China who wished to transfer assets greater than $50,000 11 in value to the United States sought alternative methods outside the 12 conventional banking system to move their funds. These informal 13 value transfer systems ("IVTS") required the participation of brokers 14 who buy and sell U.S. dollars in the United States.15 2. To transfer funds to the United States, an individual in 16 China would contact a broker with dollars to sell in the United 17 States. The individual in China would then transfer the equivalent 18 amount in Chinese currency (renminbi) to an account in China 19 specified by the broker. Once the broker received electronic 20 confirmation that the amount in question had been moved to the 21 specified account, the broker would arrange for the dollars in the 22 United States to be released to the buyer or to a designated 23 representative of the buyer.24 3. The seller of U.S. currency in the United States would 25 obtain dollars in a variety of ways, including by accepting cash from 26 individuals engaged in criminal activity that generated large amounts 27 of bulk currency, such as drug trafficking. The U.S. broker would 28 charge a percentage commission as a fee to the owner of the criminal

1 proceeds to conceal the nature and source of the funds (also known as 2 "laundering").

3       4. The funds that were transferred in China to the broker were 4 then used to pay for goods purchased by businesses and organizations
 5 in Mexico, Colombia, or elsewhere such as consumer goods or items 6 needed to aid the drug trafficking organization to manufacture 7 illegal drugs, for example, precursor chemicals, including fentanyl.
 8 Once the goods were sold, generating local currency (for example, 9 Mexican pesos), the proceeds would be returned to the drug 10 trafficking organization that provided the dollars in the United 11 States. In this way, the funds from China facilitated the laundering 12 of drug trafficking proceeds from the United States to the source 13 country, while at the same time providing United States dollars to 14 the individual from China who initiated the transaction.

15 Money Broker Network

1 B. FEDERAL REPORTING REQUIREMENTS AND "STRUCTURING"

2 5. Under relevant federal law, a "financial institution," as 3 that term is defined in Title 31, United States Code, 4 Section 5312(a)(2)(R), included a business operating as an informal 5 money transfer system to facilitate the transfer of money 6 domestically or internationally outside of the conventional financial 7 institutions system.

8 6. Under federal law, whenever a financial institution, 9 including a bank, received over $10,000 in currency in one 10 transaction or two or more related transactions that occurred within 11 one year, the financial institution was required to file a Currency 12 Transaction Report ("CTR") no later than 15 days after the 13 transaction over $10,000.

14 7. If the person who was depositing or withdrawing the 15 currency did not want a CTR to be filed, they might try to evade that 16 filing by either purchasing cashier's checks with the currency under 17 the mistaken belief that such purchases need not be reported, or 18 "structuring" their deposits by (a) making repeated deposits into one 19 account under the $10,000 reporting threshold, or (b) making multiple 20 deposits, each below $10,000 in value, at different times, at 21 different bank locations, or into different accounts.

22 C. LICENSING REQUIREMENTS FOR ANY PERSON WHO ENGAGES IN 23 TRANSMITTING FUNDS AS A BUSINESS BY ANY MEANS, INCLUDING BY 24 COURIER

25 8. Under federal law, Title 31, United States Code, Section 26 5330 required the registration as a money transmitting business by 27 any person who engaged as a business in an informal money transfer 28 system or any network of people who engaged as a business in

1 facilitating the transfer of money domestically or internationally 2 outside of the conventional financial institutions system with the 3 United States Department of the Treasury, Financial Crimes
4 Enforcement Network.

5       9. Under federal law, Title 31, Code of Federal Regulations, 6 Section 1010.100(ff)(5)(i), a "money transmitter" was (1) a person 7 that provided money transmission services by accepting currency, 8 funds, or other items of value that substitute for currency from one 9 person and transmitting that currency, funds or other items of value 10 that substitute for currency to another location or person by any 11 means, including through a financial institution, an electronic funds 12 transfer network, or an informal value transfer system; or (2) any 13 other person engaged in the transfer of funds. A "money transmitter" 14 was required to be licensed by both federal and state law, and 15 failure to register under either federal or state law was a federal 16 offense under Title 18, United States Code, Section 1960.

17       10. Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1960(a) and (b)
18 prohibited the operation of an unlicensed money transmitting 19 business.

20       11. Title 18, United States Code, Section 1960(c) prohibited 21 the transportation or transmission of funds that were known to have 22 been derived from a criminal offense or were intended to be used to 23 promote or support unlawful activity.

24       12. None of the defendants, EDGAR JOEL MARTINEZ-REYES, RAUL
25 CONTRERAS, OSCAR EDUARDO MAYORGA, LUIS BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS, GUILLERMO
26 ZAMBRANO, DIEGO ACOSTA OVALLE, BERNARDO MAUBERIS, VIDAL LICON-ROBLES, 27 LEOPOLDO BERNAL, DANIEL GONZALEZ, also known as "Rafael Arocho," 28 VICTOR RODRIGUEZ-TRUJILLO, JULIO ALEXANDER CABRERA, JOSE ANTONIO

1 PARDO, JIANDE ZHOU, nor any business owned by them, was licensed 2 under state or federal law regulations as a lawful money transmitter.

3 D. TRADE-BASED MONEY LAUNDERING

4 13. Trade-Based Money Laundering ("TBML") was a system of 5 informal value transfer that exploited legitimate businesses and 6 trade systems to launder the proceeds of illegal activity. TBML in 7 the drug trafficking context operated as follows:

8 a. Drug trafficking conducted within the United States
9 generated large quantities of U.S. currency ("drug trafficking 10 proceeds"), that had to be transferred in some manner to the true 11 owners of that currency, that is, the individuals in other countries 12 who were the sources of the illegal drugs.

13 b. Drug traffickers and others who committed illegal acts 14 in the United States were aware that banks and other financial 15 institutions were required to file CTRs that included the name and 16 identification of the beneficial owner or owners of those funds for 17 any transaction in U.S. currency in excess of $10,000 and frequently 18 tried to evade these reporting requirements.

19 c. In addition, drug traffickers were alert to the high 20 costs of using the conventional banking system, which could include 21 exchange fees when exchanging dollars for pesos and/or wire transfer 22 fees.

23 d. In order to evade the high costs of transfer and the 24 government reporting that accompanied the deposit of large amounts of 25 currency into the legitimate banking system, drug traffickers sought 26 other methods of integrating the drug proceeds they accumulated in 27 U.S. currency into the legitimate financial system so that it could 28 be transferred to the true owners without detection.

1                   e.    Criminal actors such as drug traffickers typically 2 employed brokers or “money consolidators” who each operated as an 3 informal bank where drug traffickers could place their accumulated 4 drug proceeds, typically at lower exchange rates and for lesser fees 5 than those at legitimate financial institutions.

6                   f.    Brokers and money consolidators sought out businesses 7 and individuals in other countries who purchased merchandise in the 8 United States and needed U.S. dollars to pay for that merchandise.

9                   g.    The dollars were sold in the black market for pesos 10 and used to pay the open invoices of the businesses and individuals 11 who had purchased goods in the United States.

12                  h.    When the purchased goods were shipped to the country 13 of the purchaser and sold, the proceeds of those sales were then 14 relinquished to the owner of the drug proceeds in the country where 15 the drugs originated, that is, the drug trafficker whose product 16 generated the U.S. currency, thus enabling the drug trafficker to 17 avoid the physical transfer of currency across the border and the 18 accompanying risks of seizure and robbery.

19                  14. These Introductory Allegations are incorporated into each 20 count of this Indictment.

1 COUNT ONE

2 [21 U.S.C. § 846]

3 [DEFENDANTS MARTINEZ-REYES, CONTRERAS, MAYORGA, BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS, 4 ZAMBRANO, OVALLE, MAUBERIS, LICON-ROBLES, GONZALEZ,
5 and RODRIGUEZ-TRUJILLO]

6 A. OBJECT OF THE CONSPIRACY

7 Beginning in or about October 2019, and continuing until on or 8 about October 26, 2023, in Los Angeles, Ventura, and San Bernardino
9 Counties, within the Central District of California, and elsewhere,
10 defendants EDGAR JOEL MARTINEZ-REYES, RAUL CONTRERAS, OSCAR EDUARDO
11 MAYORGA, LUIS BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS, GUILLERMO ZAMBRANO, DIEGO ACOSTA 12 OVALLE, BERNARDO MAUBERIS, VIDAL LICON-ROBLES, DANIEL GONZALEZ, also 13 known as "Rafael Arocho," and VICTOR RODRIGUEZ-TRUJILLO, and others
14 known and unknown to the Grand Jury, knowingly conspired and agreed 15 with each other to commit an offense against the United States, 16 namely, to aid and abet the distribution of controlled substances, in 17 violation of Title 21, United States Code, Sections 846 and 18 841(a)(1), (b)(1)(A) and Title 18, United States Code, Section 2(a).

19 B. MEANS BY WHICH THE OBJECT OF THE CONSPIRACY WAS TO BE 20 ACCOMPLISHED

21 1. Means By Which Defendants Assisted Sinaloa Cartel Drug
Traffickers to Conceal Their Drug Proceeds

22 a. Members and operatives of the Sinaloa Cartel, a drug 23 trafficking organization based in Mexico, would export large 24 quantities of cocaine, methamphetamine, heroin, and marijuana into 25 the United States and distribute those controlled substances through 26 co-conspirators to cities across the country where they would be sold 27 in large and small quantities. The sales of these controlled 28

1 substances would yield large amounts of drug trafficking proceeds in 2 U.S. currency. Concealment of the drug trafficking proceeds from 3 scrutiny by government or banking authorities was crucial to the drug 4 traffickers' ability to profit from their drug importation and 5 distribution scheme and maintain the viability of the scheme itself.

6 b. Defendants MARTINEZ-REYES, CONTRERAS, MAYORGA, 7 BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS, ZAMBRANO, OVALLE, MAUBERIS, LICON-ROBLES, and 8 GONZALEZ, and co-conspirators, would serve Sinaloa Cartel associates 9 by assisting them in concealing their drug trafficking proceeds and 10 making the proceeds generated in the United States accessible to the 11 Sinaloa Cartel owners in Mexico, Colombia, and elsewhere.

12 c. Defendants MARTINEZ-REYES, CONTRERAS, MAYORGA, 13 BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS, ZAMBRANO, OVALLE, MAUBERIS, LICON-ROBLES, 14 GONZALEZ, and RODRIGUEZ-TRUJILLO, co-conspirator Julio Alexander 15 Cabrera, and other co-conspirators, would collect the drug 16 trafficking proceeds belonging to the Sinaloa Cartel in the United 17 States in the form of U.S. currency, count and package them, and 18 deliver the U.S. currency to members of illegal money exchange and 19 remitting organizations known and unknown to the Grand Jury.

20 d. Sinaloa Cartel operatives would notify defendant
21 MARTINEZ-REYES of the approximate amount of drug trafficking proceeds 22 to be picked up and the location where the proceeds were to be picked 23 up and supply a telephone number and/or a code to defendant MARTINEZ-24 REYES. In turn, defendant MARTINEZ-REYES would either pick up the 25 drug proceeds himself or would designate defendants CONTRERAS,
26 BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS, or ZAMBRANO to pick up the drug trafficking 27 proceeds at the time and place agreed upon and supply the designated 28

1 person with the code and/or telephone number of the contact who was 2 to deliver the drug proceeds.

3 e. Defendants MARTINEZ-REYES, CONTRERAS, BELANDRIA-4 CONTRERAS, ZAMBRANO, OVALLE, LICON-ROBLES, MAUBERIS, GONZALEZ, and 5 RODRIGUEZ-TRUJILLO, and co-conspirator Cabrera, would either deliver 6 the U.S. currency to locations or individuals specified by members of 7 the Sinaloa Cartel, or make other arrangements to launder the drug 8 trafficking proceeds by a variety of methods described herein.

9 f. Defendants BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS and ZAMBRANO, and co-
10 conspirators, would establish and maintain bank accounts in their own 11 names and the names of businesses or other individuals in the United 12 States for the purpose of integrating the drug trafficking proceeds 13 into the legitimate banking system in the United States.

14 g. Defendants MARTINEZ-REYES and CONTRERAS would either 15 deliver the drug trafficking proceeds in cash to individuals who, 16 needing U.S. currency, purchased those proceeds in exchange for 17 deposits into bank accounts designated by the Sinaloa Cartel members 18 who were the owners of the drug trafficking proceeds, or arrange for 19 the proceeds to be deposited into bank accounts established for that 20 purpose.

21 2. Means By Which Defendants Assisted Sinaloa Cartel Members
22 to Integrate the Drug Proceeds into the Legitimate Banking System

23 a. In order to conceal the nature, source, location, and 24 ownership of the drug trafficking proceeds generated in the United 25 States, as well as to conceal the illegal drug trafficking scheme 26 itself, and to move the drug proceeds beyond the reach of law 27 enforcement, defendant MARTINEZ-REYES, and co-conspirators, would

1 arrange to purchase cryptocurrency that could easily be transferred 2 to accounts held by the Sinaloa Cartel.

3                   b. Defendants MARTINEZ-REYES, CONTRERAS, MAYORGA,
4 BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS, and ZAMBRANO, and co-conspirators, would deliver 5 the drug trafficking proceeds to operators of an underground banking 6 system operated by Chinese nationals in the United States and 7 elsewhere for the purpose of supplying U.S. currency to Chinese money 8 exchanges that were operating illegally for use by their underground 9 banking customers in the United States.

10                  c. Defendants BELANDRIA-CONTRERAS and ZAMBRANO, and co-11 conspirators, would structure deposits of U.S. currency that 12 represented drug trafficking proceeds into bank accounts to avoid the 13 federal reporting requirement.

14                  d. Defendant MARTINEZ-REYES would deliver drug 15 trafficking proceeds to co-conspirators for conversion of those 16 proceeds to cryptocurrency.

17                  e. Defendant MAUBERIS would collect drug trafficking
18 proceeds from Sinaloa Cartel operatives in the United States, use 19 them to purchase precious metals and gems on the black market in the 20 United States, take those items to Mexico, and sell those items to 21 legitimate businesses in Mexico for a profit that he would use to 22 reimburse the true owners of the drug trafficking proceeds, that is, 23 the Sinaloa Cartel members, for the drug trafficking proceeds, in 24 U.S. currency he had been given to purchase material in the United 25 States, less a commission of .5 to 1.5 percent of the amount he had 26 received.

16 MARTINEZ-REYES ("the silver Infiniti") and drove to 7914 Florence 17 Avenue, Downey, California, where defendant ZAMBRANO picked up a 18 weighted white bag containing an unknown quantity of U.S. currency 19 that represented drug trafficking proceeds from a co-conspirator and 20 then drove back to the office complex where he delivered the white 21 bag to defendant MARTINEZ-REYES.

22 3. On January 26, 2021, in Downey, California, defendant

12 U.S. currency.

13 7. On January 29, 2021, at a Citibank ATM in Long Beach,

8 vehicle driven by United States Drug Enforcement Administration Task

11 obstruct the investigation and injure that task force officer.

12 13. On May 27, 2021, in Pasadena, California, defendant
